Save the Date: Fire Service Improvement Conference—January 26-29, 2023

When firefighters from around the state come together to train, share experiences, network, and fellowship, amazing things happen.

Our goal for Fire Service Improvement Conference is to facilitate the growth – both at the technical and mental levels – of our members so that they may serve their communities safely, efficiently, and effectively.

Nearly everyone has heard "you can't train enough for a job that can kill you" and it's true. The time and effort you put into training for the different scenarios you face can save a life. The hands-on-training offered at FSIC helps prepare you for those situations.

Because of our partnerships with local agencies, several FSIC classes are using acquired structures throughout the Midlands area, a real-world simulation that allows for real-world training.

Kick off the new year with us at Fire Service Improvement Conference in Columbia, January 26-29, 2023. Schedule and registration coming soon!

SC FAST hosting clinicians academy

SC FAST is hosting its first-ever clinicians training September 16-18 in Walterboro at Colleton County Fire-Rescue. A Mile in Our Boots Clinicians Academy aims to assist clinicians in recognizing stressors of first responders in both their personal lives and during emergency responses.

"Since our inception in 2011, we have been working to understand, improve and break stigmas around first responder mental health. The team that 'serves servants' continues to grow, learn and change the emergency services culture to produce and retain healthier, more resilient first responders," stated SC FAST Director Patti Graham. "A Mile in Our Boots Clinician Academy is one more way we are changing the culture by developing the relationships between first responders and mental health clinicians."

The weekend will be full of interactive education – including wearing gear, hearing mayday tones, and more of the sensory aspects of public safety – that will allow our clinicians a realistic glimpse into the world of a first responder. Clinicians will be grouped into "squads" to participate in different activities that offer unique experiences through experiential learning. The clinicians will be challenged while creating new memories and experiences that will be able to be utilized in their practice to best serve public servants.
