

Leadership tactics, tips and truths

This program is an informative session on how manufactures and industries are successful in leading and developing personnel into successful team players. Attendees will learn how personnel engagement results in a higher productivity and ultimately job satisfaction. Those in attendance can relate their department, station, and company's members to those who lead small groups, teams, and divisions within the fire truck industry. While the products we produce are different, our workforce parallel in similarities.