

Leading the Modern Firefighter
Captain Jonah Smith

This course will discuss the need for an ever changing leadership style in today's fire service. Culture and Departments have changed and as a result our leadership must adapt to lead a new generation, all the while maintaining the mission, history, and traditions of the fire service. This course will offer proven methods as well as research to assist fire fighters and officers with leading members of the modern fire service.